My Opportunity

My name is Nguyen Huu Luan, I'm a senior student of CMU-program at Van Lang University. In this essay, I will present about my challenge, my learning experience when I'm studying. And I also show that my career paths, my feeling about DXC scholarships.

At all the time studying at university, I have learnt many major knowledges through on subjects in IT field such as Requirement Engineering, Software Architect & Design, Software Testing, Software Project Management... I learn and practice when doing the team assignments, mini projects. My team had worked and discussed together to complete it. I had written the first personal app when I was sophomore students, this is "Sell-icream" which resolves the problem in my family business. I also write one mini game is "Fan Funn" running on PC. With "Sell-icream", I hope it can be used in my family business. With "Fan Funn", I hope it can be run on IOS and Android phones. In the future, I will upgrade and add some features into it.

Besides that, I have done many projects with team such as: "C-mart", "Program Builder", "E-Recruiting Board". My team had a lot of challenging like: limited time, limit resource, difficult to approach new tool/technology, communication each other and sometimes we have conflict among team members... Every time we are facing with challenge, we are looking back team rule, team objective to have motivation and then we sit around and discuss to figure out how to solve problems. One experience that I had after working with team is: we must identify team rule, team communication, team objectives together before we start any project.

I wish to become programmer, but my long-term goal is becoming a project manager in IT fields. And the short-term goal is becoming a developer after graduating. I'm really happy when I knew that my name in the list of students attend scholarships of DXC Company. I think the biggest award is opportunity to become an internship, developer at DXC Company. It's very lucky for me that I can get this scholarship of DXC Company and it will be a big step forward in my career.
